Prof. Ricardo Miranda

Eva Davidova who is a new media artist presented some of her incredible virtual and augmented reality work. We watched a series of her work where she highlighted the story behind of the work and the process behind it. She also talked about NFTs and showcased her first NFT project, "Horsewoman Appearing Normal".

I love how most of her work showcase human body which is combined it with the natural space to convey her story. In one of her animation, "Birds Birth", we actually see herself as the main subject giving birth to a bird which is very powerful.

Furthermore, hearing her talk about her work and the knowing the process behind it gave me an idea of how I can go about with my projects. She mentioned how collaboration is the absolute key in creating our dream projects. She mentioned her collaborators without whom her projects wouldn't be possible and greatly valued them.

Overall, I had a great time and I am really glad that I could be a part of this artist lecture.

Thank you Professor, for making it happen.
